

Canadian patients' perspectives on data sharing survey

Location: Canada-wide

Description: Researchers are inviting individuals aged 18+ to participate in a Canada-wide survey exploring how health data should be shared for research. Your insights can help shape future policies and practices and ensure patient perspectives are at the center of decision-making. The project team is conducting a survey study to investigate Canada-based patients and caregiver perspectives on sharing data. In this survey they are examining perspectives on sharing individual-level data collected during a) clinical care and b) participation in research studies.

Language: The survey is available in English and French.

Eligibility: If you or your loved one have interacted with the Canadian healthcare system, we want to hear from you! Individuals who live in Canada and are 18 years or older can participate.

Participant requirements: The online survey study takes 15 minutes to complete.

Institution: The University of Ottawa Heart Institute

Contact: Jessica Edmonds, jedmonds@ottawaheart.ca