What's New?

Announcing the Early Bird Registration Deadline & Childminding at the Canadian Women's Heart Health Summit!

The Early Bird registration deadline is fast approaching - March 2nd! Secure your spot and encourage your colleagues and trainees to attend. Also, this year we are pleased to offer FREE childcare at the Canadian Women's Heart Health Summit! On April 2 & 3, we will have licensed childminding on-site at the Chateau Laurier in a quiet room where children can play, eat, and sleep. We will have an additional room where mothers can breastfeed and/or pump in privacy. If you are interested or would like to sign up for childminding, please include this in your Summit registration.

Call for Nominations for the 2020 CIHR-ICRH/CCS Distinguished Lecturer Award in Cardiovascular Sciences

The CIHR Institute of Circulatory and Respiratory Health (ICRH) and the Canadian Cardiovascular Society (CCS) have established an annual Distinguished Lecturer Award in Cardiovascular Sciences in recognition of an individual's outstanding contribution to the advancement of cardiovascular sciences both in Canada and internationally. The award will be presented to the selected candidate at the 2020 Canadian Cardiovascular Congress (CCC), to be held in Edmonton, Alberta, where the recipient will give a keynote lecture as part of the scientific program. The CCC is the largest gathering of cardiovascular and allied health professionals in Canada. The selected candidate will be an outstanding scientist who has conducted the majority of his/her research in Canada and who has contributed to the advancement of cardiovascular sciences. The individual may have conducted work in any one of a number of cardiovascular disciplines and within any of the four CIHR research theme areas: Biomedical; Clinical; Health Systems and Services; and, Social, Cultural, Environmental and Population Health. The nominated candidate's research should also be in a field of interest to the CCS and attendees of the CCC. The award includes a $5,000 honorarium and coverage of all expenses (e.g., travel, accommodations, registration fee, etc.) for the recipient to attend the CCC and to deliver a lecture on a research topic relevant to congress attendees.
